accused of mocking the inviolate codes of islam the persian poet and sage omar khayyam fortuitously finds sympathy with the very man who is to judge his alleged crimes recognising genius the judge decides to spare him and gives him instead a small blank book encouraging him to confine his thoughts to it alone thus begins the seamless blend of fact and fiction that is samarkand vividly re creating the history of the manuscript of the rubaiyaat of omar khayyam amin maalouf spans continents and centuries with breathtaking vision the dusky exoticism of 11th century persia with its poetesses and assassins the same country s struggles nine hundred years later seen through the eyes of an american academic obsessed with finding the original manuscript and the fated maiden voyage of the titanic whose tragedy led to the rubaiyaat s final resting place all are brought to life with keen assurance by this gifted and award winning writer the dissolution of the french empire and the ensuing rush of immigration have led to the formation of diasporas and immigrant cultures that have transformed french society and the immigrants themselves transnational spaces and identities in the francophone world examines the impact of this postcolonial immigration on identity in france and in the francophone world which has encompassed parts of africa the middle east southeast asia and the americas immigrants bear cultural traditions within themselves transform host communities and are in turn transformed these migrations necessarily complicate ideals of national literature culture and history forcing a reexamination and a rearticulation of these ideals exploring a variety of texts informed by these transnational conceptions of identity and space the contributors to this volume reveal the vitality of francophone studies within a broad range of disciplines periods and settings they remind us that the idea and reality of francophonie is not a late twentieth century phenomenon but something that grows out of long term interactions between colonizer and colonized and between peoples of different nationalities ethnicities and religions truly interdisciplinary this collection engages conceptions of identity with respect to their physical geographic ethnic and imagined realities the german lacuna in Edward Said's orientalism has produced varied studies of German cultural and academic orientalism so far the domains of German politics and scholarship have not been conflated to probe the central power knowledge nexus of Said's argument seeking to fill this gap the diplomatic career and scholarly literary productions of the centrally placed Friedrich Rosen serve as a focal point to investigate how politics influenced knowledge generated about the Orient and charts the roles knowledge played in political decision making regarding extra-European regions this is pursued through analyses of Germans in British imperialist contexts cultures of lowly diplomatic encounters in Middle Eastern cities Persian poetry in translation prestigious orientalist congresses in northern climes leveraging knowledge in high stakes diplomatic encounters and the making of Germany's Islam policy up to the Great War politics drew on bodies of knowledge and could promote or hinder scholarship yet scholars never systemically followed empire in its tracks but sought their own paths to cognition on their own terms or influenced by Oriental savants they aligned with politics or challenged claims to conquest and rule
